OPERATION YEARBOOK

Many people contributed to the success of the 1990-91 yearbook. However, some instructors and coaches submitted copy for their respective organizations or sports. Other copy was written by the rest of the yearbook staff. Students and staff from various parts of campus contributed photographs of students, buildings, and events. Without these extras, the yearbook staff would have had difficulty covering campus activities and special moments. And so we thank all of you who played a role in creating a yearbook that you will enjoy for years to come.

The yearbook staff would also like to give special thanks to the following professional photographers: Ann Klose of the Lincoln Courier; Jerry Dellinger, Lincoln College theatre instructor; Larry Thomas, Lincoln College art instructor; and Brayton Danner, Lincoln College professor emeritus. These contributors gave generously of their time and talents to assist our staff.

We hope you enjoy the 1990-91 yearbook, OPERATOR: LYNX. It has been our pleasure to plan and produce it with you in mind.

OPERATION SPORTS:

In the world of sports, the Lynx and Lady Lynx strive for the best that they can be in both team and individual performances. Highlights from this year include our Lynx Wrestling team who took the National Championship in Bismarck, North Dakota, the return of our men's soccer team, and our men's golf team that again qualified for nationals. Along with these honors and rewards, however, comes a price paid by athletes who are also students. Long practice hours, classes, fast food, and endless road trips weighed heavily on our athletes as they traveled to over fifteen states. But all that set aside, there is proof that these teams that strive for victory not only win on the scoreboard, but also win personally.

The Lynx wrestlers again returned to the top of the ranks with yet another national championship. Led by sophomore Dennis Vesey, who was this year's most outstanding wrestler, the Lynx traveled throughout the U.S. with their winning record to such places as Oklahoma, Nevada, Arizona and Bismarck, North Dakota where they actually clinched this year's first place trophy. Along with a team championship, eight Lynx qualified to become All-Americans. The Lynx are coached by head coach Rex Brannum and assistant coaches Bob Turley, Mike Parina and Reggie Ratcliff.

ALIVE AND KICKIN' LYNX SOCCER

This year saw the return of our men's soccer team. As new head coach, Mark Howard offers his view of the season: "I am very pleased with the result of our season. For a new program to play some of the top teams in the nation as we did is very difficult. Therefore, 7 wins and 9 losses is a 'successful season'."

Among the individual accomplishments were Mike Franzone leading the team in scoring, Brian Glass leading the defense, and both being named to the All-Regional Team.

Coach Fletcher

Many people call the season like the one we had this year, character building or a learning experience, but for us it was both and much more. We honestly didn't have enough experience or leadership to put together a solid season, but we sure tried.

I have to give this group of young ladies a lot of credit, because when the going got tough they didn't back down and they never gave up or quit on their teammates. I threw every coaching tactic and strategy I knew at them, and they still came back for more. They had more than their share of 6:00 a.m. practices, long road trips, and midnight hours of studying. Even through all of that, they still came away with a 3.4 team G.P.A.

We learned a lot about ourselves, volleyball and life itself. It's a season I think we'll all remember — not so much the record, but the fun times and the hard times we went through together. The 1990 Lady Lynx taught me that heart will always be bigger than any score on a scoreboard.

I love ya Lady Lynx!

Jam Good Time! MEN'S BASKETBALL

This year the Lynx have been busily involved with the record books in both good and not so good ways. First, on December 1, Lincoln Trail downed the Lynx by a score of 91-90, which caused the 51 home game winning streak to be broken. Then, only six days later at the Lake Land Tournament, the Lynx beat Olney 91-80, which gave our school its 1,000 victory as a school and our 871st victory as a junior college. Total team stats for the season include a 48.6% field goal percentage, 39.5% for 3-pt. field goals and 64.7% for free-throws. The Lynx also averaged 32.4% in rebounding and 82 points per game. Ironically, Lincoln Trail, who ended our home winning streak, also ended our regular season and gave us a final record of 13-18.

LADY LYNX WOMEN'S TENNIS

Every person counts is definitely the fitting title for this year's women's tennis team. With only four players, they could never win a team match. Individually was the only way the Lady Lynx could compete. Missy Hedrick was this year's most improved player. Each player's contribution led to a fun season even without the wins.

Spring Surprise!

LADY LYNX SOFTBALL

Coch Bonebrake and Yogi

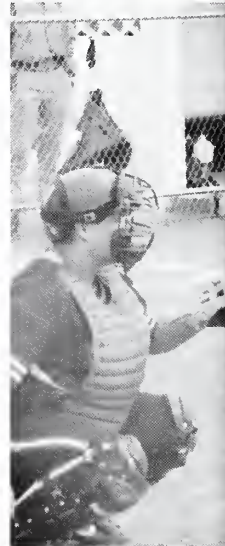

With a final record of 27-19, Coach Bonebrake expressed nothing but praise for her team. She stated that her team was very young with only four out of twelve being sophomores. A mid-season shakeup which involved the loss of Lelah Blackwell due to a broken arm caused the team to make some adjustments. Leah Carlin was shifted from centerfield to shortstop/catcher position while also leading the team with 24 RBI's. Before leaving the outfield, Leah won the team's Outfield Golden Glove Award with a .953 fielding percentage. Picking up the Infield Golden Glove Award with a .974 average was Cathy Tucker. Leading hitter for the team was Patti Kamradt with .323. The most Improved Player Award was picked up by Tricia Malsen. Two of the sophomores on the team were also the only two pitchers. Becky Ginger finished with a 14-10 record and 5 shutouts. Annette Wilson finished 13-9 with 4 shutouts. The Lady Lynx finished 4th in regional play at Wabash.

LYNX

National Qualifiers

LYNX GOLFERS

Todd Brummel and Clyde Berning.

Although the Lincoln College golfers have had a successful season, their year was not over when the spring semester ended.

Their season continued into June at the national tournament in Midland, Texas.

Going into nationals, the golfers had 87 wins and 8 losses. They were ranked 15th in the nation with NJCAA Division One golf. Four students made all-region: Roe Skidmore, Clyde Berning, Todd Brummel, and Jeff Janssen. Berning tied for medalist, the number one spot in regionals.

Prior to nationals, the team entered the National Champions Tournament at Central Alabama College in the spring. There they competed against 25 colleges and universities, including ten Division One schools.

Coach Riley secured a win of his own, as he was named Region 24 Coach of the Year. Riley looks forward to next year when his team will be mostly comprised of returning sophomores. However, sophomores Skidmore, Prodehl, and Nestler will be missed as they continue their golf careers elsewhere.

FINE ARTS

OPERATION ART:

The Fine Arts department is in charge of keeping people entertained and cultured. In addition, it encourages expression of creative talent. This year, the performing arts division of the Fine Arts department put on three plays, Cabaret, Mousetrap, and Speed the Plow. Chorale and Jazz Band performed in concert throughout the year. Express again traveled to Florida over spring break. The visual arts division sponsored various artists in the Layman Art Gallery, including our own artists in the Student Art Exhibition. The students who participate in the arts represent Lincoln College not only on our campus, but also throughout the community.

CABARET

Theatre department presents fall production

by Mike Loeffelholz

The Lincoln College theatre department is preparing for the opening of its fall production, "Cabaret."

"Cabaret" makes a statement on how vulnerable society is to the possibility of war, according to director and set designer Jerry Dellinger. He said the audience sees a group of people who seem oblivious to the fact that their world is about to be taken over by war.

In the Kit Kat Cabaret Club everything seems rosy and cheerful, but there is evil brewing under the surface and waiting to be brought out. As the play progresses, the characters in the play slowly begin to notice they are being led down the trail of destruction and captivity under the Nazi army.

The play is seen through the eyes of an outsider, an American named Cliff, played by Marc Raben of Hanover Park. Sally Bowles, the female lead is played by Colleen Mitchell of Oak Lawn.

Other cast members include: Jeff Griggs, Clinton, as Herr-Shultz; Cathy Wachs, Burbank, Frauline Schneider; Don Johnston, Chicago, Ernst Ludwig; Crystal Schumacher, Gurnee, Frauline Kost; and David Warden, Decatur, as the emcee.

Along with Dellinger, the production staff consists of Bill Buffington as musical director, Karyn Hurley of Roscoe as student director and Kathleen Tiffany of McHenry as choreographer.

Lincoln College does a musical every other year. "Cabaret" will run Oct. 25-28 at the Johnston Center for Performing Arts on campus. The Oct. 28 performance will be a 2:00 p.m. matinee. All other shows will begin at 8:00 p.m.

ART GALLERY

Now in its second year of operation, the Layman Gallery highlighted much of its season with exhibits of artists and works associated with Lincoln College on the Lincoln area.

The first show was an exhibit of the selected works from the permanent art collection of Lincoln College. Larry Thomas, Associate Professor of Art, showed paintings and monotypes from his series "Windows and Passages." Associate Professor of Art, Martha Hargett, had a retrospective of her fibers, monotypes, paper works, and clay pieces.

In addition to Lincoln College works, the gallery showed works of two area artists: a memorial retrospective of the late Father Thomas McCarthy; and an exhibition entitled "Structural Explorations in Fibers" by Springfield artist Janet Reed.

The Layman Gallery's 1990-91 season closed with the Annual Art Student's Exhibition during April and May.

ORGANIZATIONS

OPERATION ORGANIZE:

Varieties of people with a variety of interests make up the variety of different groups and organizations at Lincoln College. It takes plenty of time and effort and even overtime to devote oneself to extra-curricular activities. Good times and getting to know friends even better are special features of being committed to these activities and organizations. The hard work put into arranging events and group projects creates the same memorable moments that make it all worthwhile.

The Lincoln College Student Senate does everything possible to keep students involved in the different activities sponsored on campus, such as casino night and homecoming.

Homecoming week is always an exciting time for Lincoln College students because of the different events that take place, said Gaylon Payne of Galesburg. A belly flop contest, a basketball shootout and residence hall banner contest are just a few of the events that will be taking place for homecoming.

Sophomore class president Chad Doyle of Collinsville was last year's splash and belly flop champion. He said winning the title wasn't easy last year because the competition was good. Doyle added that the pressure is on the competition this year.

Student Senate president Curtis White of Des Moines, Iowa is responsible for finding different tasks for each of the 23 members to do and making sure they do them. He said there is always pressure as president of the senate because if people don't do their jobs that makes him look bad.

dent; Melvin Campbell, Lockport, sophomore class vice president; Joe Pionke, Chicago, sophomore class secretary; Sean White, Calumet Park, freshman class president; Bob Stacey, Park Ridge, freshman class vice president; Frank Ray, South Holland, freshman class secretary; Yolanda Delarosa, Chicago, yearbook; Toya Owens, Calumet Park, L'Mode representative; Jenny Waters, Naperville, Biology Club; Roshanda Humphrey, Chicago, Hoyle Hall president; Gayla Cook, Evanston, Hoyle vice president; Sharon Massie, Naperville, Hoyle secretary; Julia Griffin, Robbins, Hoyle treasurer; Sonia Ware, Evanston, first floor Hoyle; Angie Evans, Calumet Park, second floor Hoyle.

Other members include: Leah Carlin, Oak Park, Olin-Sang (O-S) president; Tammie Sowders, Streator, Students Helping Other Students and first floor O-S; Pete Porzio, Orland Park, Forsythe Hall president; Demond Perry, Maywood, Carroll Hall first floor; Brian Glass, Chicago Heights, student senate; Kyle Edwards, Naperville, student activities chairman; and David Sudbury, Costa Mesa, Calif., student activities.

Following homecoming and casino night, the Student Senate's next major undertaking will be Spring Formal.

Under the direction of sponsors Mrs. McLaughlin and Mrs. Stephenson, the Iota Chi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa was proud to initiate 89 students in the 1990-91 school year. In the fall semester, 34 students were initiated, and 55 in the spring.

Officers of the honorary society were as follows: Sharon Massie (President), Yolanda DeLaRosa (VP 1st semester), Joe Pionke (VP 2nd semester), and April Anderson (Secretary).

"Literacy Is For Everyone" was chosen as the Annual Service Project. The project, which complements the honors study topic, "Civilization at Risk: Challenge of the 90s," was divided into three sections, each dealing with a form of literacy.

"Environmental Literacy" focused on conservation projects; "Civic Literacy" outlined ways to improve civic responsibility; and "Fighting Functional Illiteracy" tackled the problems of adult and children's illiteracy.

The Iota Chi Chapter addressed each area of the National Topic through its speakers at each initiation dinner: Andrew Neill spoke on the environment in the fall, and Geraldo Valdez addressed illiteracy in the spring. Members sent letters and banners to the troops in Desert Storm through its service project, "Come Home Soon."

Locker room controversy:
sexual discrimination
vs. freedom of press

by Shannon Kelly

The recent incident involving Lisa Olson, a reporter for the Boston Herald newspaper, has stirred up the controversy of female reporters in male locker rooms. If females are not allowed in male locker rooms, is it sexual discrimination? Should females be allowed in male locker rooms?

The National Basketball Association began allowing women equal access to locker rooms in the 1960's. Now, in the 90's, all sports in the United States have equal access to locker rooms by male and female reporters.

Earlier this year, New England Patriots' football players made sexual remarks to Olson while she was in the locker room.

A week later, Cincinnati Bengals head coach Sam Wyche barred a female reporter from the locker rooms following a game. This brought up the question: should women be given equal access to male locker rooms?

The reporters have a job to do and need access to the locker rooms. There is such a thing called a towel which can be used to cover body parts an athlete does not want to expose in front of a reporter.

If females are banned from the locker room, it would be sexual discrimination. The First Amendment of the Constitution gives citizens of the United States freedom of speech, freedom of religion and freedom of the press. If any of these are violated, it destroys what the forefathers of this country died for.

Scott Warfield

Unfortunately, the Emancipator met its demise second semester when the news editing class was cancelled. However, first semester under the direction of Loyd Kirby, the staff was productive putting out newspapers that covered campus events, organizations, and people.

WLNK, Lincoln College's radio station, is currently on the air with 21 students doing airtime. Loyd Kirby, general manager of the station, said that WLNK serves both the students and the community. Because of problems in the past, the station's music format is mainly Top 40, progressive and oldies.

People who are allowed on the air include students currently enrolled in the broadcasting classes, previous disc jockeys who have worked at WLNK and persons with previous experience in radio. Kirby added that "there are few exceptions."

"So far things have gone really well this year," he said. "There's a lot of teamwork and enthusiasm (among the deejays). Roughly one-third of the class could go on to commercial radio."

Kirby said he hopes to work to replace some of the station's older equipment. He said that he requested a "significant" amount of funding in his annual budget for equipment.

Since Kirby arrived last year, he said things are looking up. He said the goals and performance of the station are more in line with the L.C. administration's wishes and the Federal Communications Commission's regulations. Kirby said WLNK is still proving its worth, but hopefully good things will be on the way.

The opportunity to informally learn about biology related topics without being graded became a reality on the Lincoln College campus this year. Under the direction of sponsor Andrew Neill, the Biology Club was organized for students who wanted to investigate science topics outside the classroom through guest speakers, films, and field trips. Students did not have to be biology majors or be enrolled in science courses to join the club or attend sponsored events.

Events included the following: A slide presentation by Dr. Angelo Capparella, a world-leading tropical biologist at ISU, on his work in the Amazon Rain Forest; field trips to several local natural areas; and a career opportunities seminar presented by Mr. Neill.

By mid-year, club members still planned to visit the University of Illinois school for veterinary medicine and the Wildlife Prairie Park in Peoria, as well as to participate in a local tree planting effort and a prescribed prairie burn.

Ag students conduct tests

by Doug Naugle

Perhaps unknown to some Lincoln College students is the fact that the college owns a farm just three miles east of Lincoln on Route 10.

The 65-acre plot is the location for many different tests conducted by students in the agribusiness classes at Lincoln College. Of the four agribusiness classes offered, fifth-year ag instructor and farm manager Gary Freeman says that the farm management class receives the most hands-on experience.

This year the students will be working on three different test plot projects involving corn and soybeans.

The first of such plots is a variety plot. Sixteen different varieties of corn and soybeans were provided by 15 different seed companies.

The corn planting population plot hosts five different corn populations from 18,840 plants per acre to 50,130 plants per acre.

The soybean inoculation plot was divided into two groups. One group was treated with a special anti-bacteria while the other was left untreated. The projected outcome of this experiment, Freeman said, is that the treated plot will produce better yields.

The farm, which is open to visitors, is run on a 50/50 crop share basis. Profits are shared by the agribusiness club and Lincoln College.

Students Helping Other Students, also known as the Growth Action Group, is a campus organization for students looking for additional avenues of support from peers. Members help each other strive for wellness in all areas of their lives: social, physical, intellectual, spiritual, and emotional.

This year the Growth Action Group met every other Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. After group discussion of certain perplexing questions, members were paired up. On the off weeks, members met with their campus buddies (paired partners) to discuss questions and issues on the agenda for the following week. This format provided students the opportunity to not only better understand members as individuals, but also to share thoughts and concerns with the group as a whole.

SHOS stands for discipline, comraderie, responsibility, academics, and leadership. Additionally, SHOS stands for pride-in-self, pride-in-the-group, and pride in Lincoln College.

Certain criteria have been established for members to remain in the group: Members must be dedicated to attending the group and individual meetings; members are expected to maintain a 2.0 GPA.

PEOPLE

OPERATION PEOPLE:

People are the heart of the matter in many aspects of life, including college life. Students who come to Lincoln College offer a variety of backgrounds, which help to diversify our campus and allow us to create and maintain many friendships. On our small campus we see each other every day. We go to class together, we study together, eat together and attend extra-curricular events together. And, of course, what we love to do the best — party together! Each and every one of us helps to create a special atmosphere that makes us what we are — Lincoln College.

ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT JACK NUTT

The administration saw Lincoln College through a successful yet stressful year. The newly formed community college district loomed as a potential competitor to a two year private institution, such as Lincoln. The war in the Middle East created concern on the homefront for a stable economy, affecting available money for higher education. Facing these problems, President Nutt made firm yet difficult decisions in the best interest of the Lincoln College campuses. Although it was business as usual for Lincoln College students, the administrators found the 1990-91 school year full of challenges they would rather not have faced.

IN MEMORY OF AND DEDICATION TO

Laura Miller

Born: September 28, 1970

Died: February 20, 1991

In memory of and dedication to Laura Miller, a member of the class of '91: We, her fellow classmates, would like to remember all the joy Laura brought us. She was a beautiful girl and an extremely congenial person. We are most grateful to have had Laura as a part of our lives, even though the time spent with her was limited.

Dear Laura,

As the beginning started off
You grew to us very dear,
We kept you warm in our hearts
Even though you couldn't be here.

You had so much ahead
No one could foresee,
The hopes we all wished for
That never were to be.

Although life was short lived
You showed us joy day to day,
You had so much love to give
So in our memory you'll always stay.

You touched our hearts and lives
For that we will gratefully be,
You will be missed by many friends
But live on in our memory.

You were taken from us by God
But yet your spirit sheds us light,
We are still able to speak with you
But now it is in our prayers at night.

Laura, we love you dearly
Your memory will stay and then,
We remember all the joy you brought us
And it will stay with us until the end.

Forever your friends —
